Charleston on the 3d inst., with advices from Havana to the 29th ult., and the Empire City at this port, on Saturday, from the same place, with intelligence to 9 o'clock on the morning of the 1st inst.

The news, which is of a very interesting character, is embraced in our Havana and Matanzas correspondence.

HAVANA, Pobruary 25, 1862. The Climate—Rains—Prospect of the Crops—Arrivel of the Colon—Sir John Seymour—Political State of the Island— The Captain General—Mail Steamers—Ranels—Parodi.
The always faithful Island of Cuba never wore a more glorious aspect than during the last fortnight. The climate is delicious, and bears a strong resemblance to our Indian summer. The thermometer averages about 73 at noon, and the evenings-thanks to a balmy Southern breeze and a starry sky—are moments snatched from Paradise. But the most singular thing is, that the Habaneros grumble at the weather, and the "oldest inhabitant"-who is likewise to be found here never to die-pronounces it, this winter, "muy rigoroso." What would he say to a New York old fashioned snow storm?

In several parts of the island, there has fallen a most abundant rain, which, although it will prove beneficial in certain districts, yet causes some fears to be entertained in the Vuelta Abajo, where it may have an injurious effect on the tobacco plant. But, on the whole, the general opinion is that this year, to say the least, will prove an average one.

Owing to a southeastern wind that has been blowing since the last week, there have been rather few arrivals both from the States and Europe. The Colon, a government steamer of the first class, arrived here from New Orleans, on the 21st, having on board the Spanish Consul Markets, &c.

The Carnival passed off quietly, and without incident. There was the usual number of public and private bels masque, but less masquerading in the streets than in forthe population here took part in the three days' festival. and consequently their observance is on the wane. The to even a stranger.

The U.S. sloop of war Albany is now here. She arrived on the 24th inst., from San Juan de Nicaragus. Officers and crew all well.

Since my letter of the 15th, there has been much more animation in business than previously noted. Sugar is arriving more freely, and freights are a trifle firmer, and more tradily obtained. Exchanges, it will be seen, have stiffered considerably.

In sugars, I hear of sales having been made of 5,000 boxes brown, yellow, and white, at 4,6, and 8 rs. per arroba. 1,000 berosa white, at 9 rs. per de.; and 13,600 boxes sold for delivery during the senson; Cheurushes, at 3½ rs.; browns, at 4½ rs.; yellows, at 5½ rs.; whites, at 7½ rs. browns, at 4½ rs.; yellows, at 5½ rs.; whites, at 7½ rs. per arroba.

I send this, per Lubel, to Charleston, thinking it may anticipate the arrival of the Empire City in New York, as the latter steamer has but just arrived from New Orleans, and will not sail before te-morrow. I have time to enclose only the arrivals and departures at Havana, and not of the other ports of the island.

B. Arrival of Steamers-News from Marico-Caraonjal-Ship-de Marina against Anti-Renters-News from the Interior-Arrests at Puerto Principe-New Dock. There have been a great many arrivals at this port, both of steamers and sailing vessels.

We have dates from Mexico to the 12th of February, and from Vers Cruz to the 17th. The news is unimportant. Letters from Camargo say that the detachment under Uraga had left on the 15th for Monterey; so that the whole force for the protection of the frontier will be about 2,300 men. The rumor of a fresh invasion of the Mexican territory under Caravajal, is unfounded. Caravajal has not more than 40 men with him, who are daily committing robberies on Mexican estates situated on the other side of Rio Bravo. A certain Dowall, a Judge of Estrella (Star) county, has been a party to the outrage committed on the Mexican boundary line, and has sent assistance to Ceralyo. The conduct of General Harney is very much eulogized. The Vera Cruz papers are still filled with particulars of the disasters caused by the late gale. The remains of the disasters caused by the late gale. The remains of the Robert Stephenson have been found on the shore at Coatzacooloos, as well as several planks marked "Robert Spedden." Another American vessel is said to have been tost, too; but no name is given.

The General Coucha and the Isabel have arrived. The local papers are principally filled with European news. The Dinic de Mania strongly condemns Louis Napoleon for the contemplated confiscation of the property belonging to the Orleans family, and fulminates against the democracy for the little respect if shows to property, as seen by the conduct of the anti-renters in the United States. It sorely misses Lord Palmerston from the Foreign Offlee, where probably President Fillmore's interference in favor of the frish exiles will lead to some warm discussion.

The mail from the interior brings arefund descriptions of the Princess Royal. The invasion excitement is add-to have entirely subsided, yet there have been made everal arrests among the young men of Puerto Principe, for wearing revolutionary hats.

The Captain General has granted permission to the Sparish Mail Steamer Company to build a dock on the Alameda de Paula.

of the New York Herand as fitting out at that port for the const of Africa, about nine menths ago. The Herand was careful to point out to the authorities of New York the neferious character of the vessel; but no notice having been taken of the circumstance, she was permitted to sail on her linhuman voyage, and the result is that eight hundred more unfortunate wretches have been torn from their hemes to eke out a miscrable existence in Cuba.

The colored population of the island of Guba, (notwithstanding the statistics to the contrary given in by the government,) for outnumbering that of the whites, and they have endeavored, by every means in their power, to put an end to fresh importations of negres from the Coast of Africa. The recent curemous importations, introduced by a company of Catalans, at Matanzas, and by others, of Havana, have caused considerable indigration amongst the culightened Creele population, who foresees seeme or later, the danger which may across from the cupidity of these Catalan Spaniards, whose only end being gain, care not for the future prosperity of Guba. All the expeditions to the coast of Africa are sort out by Spaniards from the mother country, but principally by Catalans. The Hanover not having obtained a Spaniar Presister, is supposed to be railing between the coast of Africa and this island under the American flag.

Gen. Partia Governor of Matenzas, has been suspended by the Captain General, and a commission has been suspended by the Captain General, and a commission has been suspended by the Captain General, and a commission has been suspended by the Captain General, and a commission has been suspended by the Captain General, and a commission has been suspended by the Captain General, and a commission has been suspended by the Captain General, and a commission has been suspended by the Captain General, and a commission has been section, but I apprehend it matters little to him what may be the result of its termination. Gen. Concha, it is well known, has issued the most stringen that it is impossible for a good man to govern in Cuba, unless as be properly backed up by the home government.

Gen Concha has done much for Cuba and the Cubaus; indeed he has, during his short residence in the island, done more towards reconcilling the natives to the home government than all his predecessors. Under his mild administration much is to be hoped for Cuba; but at the same time be has much to contend against, and his good intentions are liable every moment to be hwarted by such men as are sent out from Spain to act as not as edge whose to his honest purposes for the welfare of the people committed to his charge. But after all, it must be admitted that the means employed in supporting the government are of an unsubspacetory nature on far as liberty is concerned, especially with reference to the Creele population.

I have hand that a new thoughter against an among the worldy chases, and that is, that they will string, by every means in their power, to induce the American government to purchase its island. They have toon to the conclusion that more expeditions would only have to a well way, which the negrous until to the the seasified purpose of derive advantage from and so they are all now for the sale of Cuba to the United States.

The Carnival commenced systeming with crussal guide, be thought as all full. I would strongly recommend the Hotel Cubane—lept by Mrs. Bovan, of Terrina-rec—to strangers victing Havana. We shall have counds of victors from the United States during the Fieral Reale.

Intelligence has just been received in the city, that 640 more Ecyal negrees were esfely landed from another brig, at Sivila Morend, on Sunday [ast, the 22d inst. A vessel under Spanish colors lauded a cargo almost in right of the More Castle, at the Cherrera river, on the 22d instat.

State Trading in Cuba-Official Corruption and Bribery-Laxity of the Penal Laws, and Consequent Evasion.

I premised to give you, in continuation, the history of the late neferious transactions in stave trading, which occurred in this neighborhood. You will remember, I also stated that although the whole affair, in all its details, had reached the ears of the Captain General, who had instituted the strictest investigation into the matter, and had even gone to far as to suspend the Governor of this place, General Pavia from the exercise of his functions, still I was convinced that the master would be hushed up, and the guilty parties be suffered to escape the punishment their scendalous conduct so richly merited-and so it has proved. The extreme laxity of the penal law promulgated in this Island by General O'Donnell, some time in the year 1845, by which stave trading thenceforth was pronounced piracy, has not, as was to be expected, had the slightest effect on the traders; because, at the time the law in question was established, the trade was at its slightest effect on the traders; because, at the time the law in question was established, the trade was at its height, under the notorious protection of General O'Donnel, who it is well known throughout Cuba, received a bonus of three seners each upon every negro introduce! from the coast of Africa.

The clave-trade continued to flourish under the administration of General Romealt, the Count of Aleay, but would have received a very severe check under the government of our present excellent Captain-General, were he supported in his administration. With respect to his good intentions for the suppression of this inhuman traffic they have been completely haffled by the phrasing of the penal law, which seems to have been purposely studied as as, by its wording, to nature devey advantage to the dave traders. For instance of the expressly stipulated that integroes, be they of whistever class they may, just from the coast of Africa or otherwise, once safely placed upon an estate, cannot be interfered with, or molected in any way whatever. You that the recoment the sharer makes her appearance at the given place on the coast, preparations are made to convey the negroes instantly to the nearest resistate, upon safely reaching which they are mulastic hardened with the feature to the SO at Camanoca, and the 450 at Sierras Morana. They were successfully landed and placed upon the mearest property, and the worthy Governor of Malanzas duly informed General. Cencha, no doubt, that laving caused difficent inquifies into the circumstances of the reported handings of negroes in his jurisdiction he declares them to be more remore, without any foundation in truth—and there is an end to the matter; for the Captain-General must receive a speed the report of an officer heiding the high rank of brigadier general. The latter has therefore been again reinstated to the government of Matanzas.

The captain of the Hamover, a Spandard, is now, I am toid, walking about the streets of Havana, boasting in the most open manuer of the success of tion to the coast, by which he has realized a spicular fortune.

A few years ago, a poor man who had been ill treated by the captain of a slaver, who had just disembarked a cargo of negroes on the coast of Bahia flanda, upon presenting himself to the Coent of Alcoy to denounce the transaction, was himself arrested, and put to work in the clain gang for five years, while the guilty captain was allowed to be at liberty.

But the influence of the slave traders, from their great wealth, is such that they obtain whatever they please from the home government, and it would, strange to say, to almost impossible for the Captain General even to attempt to bring these guilty parties to punishment.

I shall leave this in a few days for the North. LYN.
